

Meet the Network and Community Leadership Network: Translational & Precision Medicine (TPM)

Network Vice Chair:
Kathryn Momary,
PharmD, BCPS
Mercer University

Kathryn is currently an associate professor at Mercer University College of Pharmacy with appointments in the Departments of Pharmacy Practice and Pharmaceutical Sciences. She earned her PharmD with honors from the University of Florida and then completed residency and fellowship at the University of Illinois at Chicago. She currently studies cardiovascular pharmacogenomics. She has published both original research and review papers in this area and has presented her research at national pharmacy and pharmacology meetings. She has been a member of ASCPT since 2005 and has served on the strategic planning task force, website task force, and scientific programming committee. She was Vice Chair of the MOL section from 2012-2014 and Chair of the MOL section from 2014-2015. She was the chair of the Pharmacogenomics community from 2015-2016.